To Whom It May Concern,

This letter is my personal recommendation for Jacquelyn Marks. Jacquelyn will have a very bright future with any organization, and if you are wise, that future will be with your organization. I met Jacquelyn in April of 2008, and I was the immediate supervisor for her on the Street Team at Broward-Palm Beach New Times, Village Voice Media until November 18th, 2009, when I transferred to our Dallas branch.

Jacquelyn has a very outgoing and endearing personality. This allows her to interact in diverse settings. She accepts challenges with excitement and enthusiasm. When extra tasks were needed to be completed, she was always there to assist me. She naturally took the lead management role when it came to Street Team staffing procedure including scheduling events, packing materials, uploading pictures and coordinating the rest of the grassroots marketing team as the lead Street Team member.

Jacquelyn has proven to be a reliable employee with excellent communication skills. She has always been well respected by me, and other members of the team. She has a great passion for the marketing and advertising industry as we discussed her career goals and projects within the industry often throughout our time together.

Most importantly and the reason she is such an asset is her work ethic and organization in each task put in front of her. Jacquelyn takes her job seriously while not taking herself too seriously at all. She is a joy to work with and her punctual attitude was infectious on other members of my team. I could not have made the changes and strides within the Street Team if she had not been my lead member throughout the two years I held the marketing manager position.

Jacquelyn will be an asset where ever her talents and fate leads. You can do no wrong in hiring Jacquelyn, no task is beneath her efforts.

I would be happy to refer her and discuss how she can help your company, at any time. I can be reached at WhittneyLaws@yahoo.com

Sincerely,
